

Hexx, table design Diesel Creative Team

From the industrial shape of a bolt, to beehives found in nature, the hexagon is a perfect shape, capable of bringing to life endless compositions, based on a single polygon. The Hexx table lamp is the result of a union of two different hexagonal prisms made of perforated sheet - a clear reference to the industrial world - overlapping one another so that the meshes of both items do not cross. This simple idea leads to an optical effect – called moiré pattern – which creates a fascinating play of light. Designed by the Diesel Creative Team and produced by Foscari, Hexx is fitted with two light sources and dual switch, to create special ever-changing atmospheres. The upper light source is directed upwards and offers a functional light that shines by reflection, whereas the lower light source generates a magical luminous atmosphere, drawing light patterns on the surface on which it is placed as well as on the walls. There are two finishes available: black, minimalist and graphic, or green, with a reference to the oxidation of copper and therefore to a design that is both natural and industrial.

Diesel Creative Team

In 2009, Foscarini signed a partnership agreement with Diesel as part of the "Home Collection" home furnishings and lifestyle project. This partnership has given Foscarini the opportunity to make contact with a new target clientele and explore new lifestyles and furnishing trends through a collection conceived by Diesel for its own target group: "Diesel Living with Foscarini".

The Diesel Living with Foscarini collection speaks a range of different languages - from rock to pop, industrial to vintage, graphics to art - to illustrate the unmistakable Diesel lifestyle. Ironic, transgressive, eclectic, incandescent, the collection is made up of over 40 different lamp models. The collection is structured into a range of forms, materials and intended uses, lending itself to unexpected and unconventional settings, from domestic to public environments, always with a strong personality. The materials selected and researched for Foscarini, and perhaps even more so in the Diesel Living with Foscarini collection, are of the utmost importance. Materials which have never before been used in the lighting industry are the collection's added value.
